

Completed the #geekstreak2024 challenge but didn't receive the reward

I recently participated in the 21-day #geekstreak2024 challenge on GeeksforGeeks, completing it with full dedication and commitment. Unfortunately, despite my efforts, I wasn't selected for the reward, which is quite disappointing.

While I understand that competitions can have their challenges, it's disheartening when hard work doesn't get recognized. This experience has made me reconsider my association with the platform.

Though it's a tough decision, I've decided to step away from GeeksforGeeks and explore other communities that offer more appreciation for consistency and effort.

Thank you to everyone who supported me along the way. I'm excited for what's next and will continue to push forward in my journey.
